Citizens call on FERC to slow down ACP approval process

The Augusta County Alliance (ACA), acting on behalf of hundreds of concerned citizens, submitted a petition containing almost 600 names to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) as part of the Draft Environmental Impact Statement process for the Atlantic Coast Pipeline (ACP) on Thursday (April 6, 2017). The We the People Petition asks that the ACP application process be slowed down in order to “More fully, thoughtfully, and transparently assess the pros and cons of the ACP” while taking into consideration a number of questions spelled out in the document.

The petition, recently launched on-line through the Augusta County Alliance website and also in a paper form, has now garnered close to 600 signatures and the list continues to grow. ACA Co-chair Nancy Sorrells said that she believes “this petition helps put a face on the pipeline issue and exposes Dominion’s disingenuous public relations efforts that claim that the pipeline is in everyone’s best interests.”

Those signing the petition are not just persons whose property is directly impacted by the pipeline but also include hundreds of others concerned about the pipeline’s impacts to all communities, families, farms, businesses, schools, and public lands in the path of the project. “They want to ask questions and they want to get truthful answers and to be a part of the decision-making process,” said Sorrells. “The effects of this pipeline will extend far beyond the footprint of the project and people have a right to know if their quality of life is being compromised for a corporation’s private profit.”

The petitions asks FERC, the U.S. Forest Service, the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and all other local, state, and federal decision making bodies to consider the following questions:

- Do we already have sufficient pipeline capacity to meet energy demands in Virginia, West Virginia, and North Carolina?
- What are other energy efficiencies and alternatives to consider, such as solar and wind?
- Are the routes being proposed by Dominion the least disruptive routes to the states, our farmlands, our communities, and to the well-being of citizens?
- What are the short-term and long-term safety and economic impacts on our forests, farmlands, water, schools, and communities?
- Is the use of eminent domain (the “taking” of private land) by a for-profit corporation at the expense of the rights of its citizens to possess property and pursue life, liberty and happiness considered constitutional?
- Should there be a better assessment of the jobs to be gained in the short and long term and whether other energy resource projects might provide an equal number (or more) of jobs?

Nancy T. Sorrells, Co-chair, 3419 Cold Springs Road, Greenville, VA 24440
540-292-4170 Email: info@augustacountyalliance.org Website: www.augustacountyalliance.org

- Is there a more comprehensive way to examine safety considerations, including the ramifications of leaks and explosions, the potential threat of terrorism and the question of why newer pipelines are failing at a faster rate than older pipelines?

Although comments for the DEIS just closed this week, it is already abundantly clear that there are lengthy lists of inadequacies in the report that will negatively affect hundreds of thousands of people. And, in spite of that fact, Dominion continues to move ahead with confidence that its project is a done deal. The We the People Petition is a continued appeal to the democratic principles on which this country was founded and a request to leaders that this project is not a done deal.

One has to look no further than just a few miles from the proposed route of the ACP in order to gather purpose for the meaning of the We the People Petition. Thomas Jefferson, Virginia Governor and U.S. President, once said: "I know of no safe depository of the ultimate powers of the society but the people themselves; and if we think them not enlightened enough to exercise their control with a wholesome discretion, the remedy is not to take it from them, but to inform their discretion by education. This is the true corrective of abuses of constitutional power."

The petition will continue to garner signatures and updates will continue to be sent to appropriate agencies, boards, and elected leaders. The petition can be accessed at augustacountyalliance.org.

A copy of the current list of We the People signers will be sent upon request.

We the People of Virginia (and West Virginia and North Carolina)

...are mothers and fathers, sons and daughters, farmers and landowners, small and large business owners, veterans, health care providers, senior citizens, retirees, taxpayers, teachers, students, property rights advocates, environmentalists, restaurateurs, civil servants, church goers, republicans, democrats, voters, hunters, anglers, hikers, bikers, birders, artists, musicians, and members of communities large and small. As proud citizens of the Commonwealth of Virginia we have a right to be heard and to have input into decisions pertaining to the Atlantic Coast Pipeline (ACP).

We therefore respectfully and collectively call on Dominion Resources, Inc., our local, state, and federal representatives, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), the U.S. Forest Service (USFS), the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and all other local, state, and federal decision making bodies to slow the approval process down in order to more fully, thoughtfully, and transparently assess the pros and cons of the ACP, taking into consideration the following:

1. Do we already have sufficient pipeline capacity to meet energy demands in Virginia, West Virginia, and North Carolina?
2. What are other energy efficiencies and alternatives to consider, such as solar and wind?
3. Are the routes being proposed by Dominion the least disruptive routes to the states, our farmlands, our communities, and to the well-being of its citizens?
4. What are the short-term and long-term safety and economic impacts on our forests, farmlands, water, schools, and communities?
5. Is the use of eminent domain (“taking” of private land) by a for-profit corporation at the expense of the rights of its citizens to possess property and pursue life, liberty, and happiness considered constitutional?
6. Should there be a better assessment of the jobs to be gained in the short and long term and whether other energy resource projects might provide an equal number (or more) of jobs?
7. Is there a more comprehensive way to examine safety considerations, including the ramifications of leaks and explosions, the potential threat of terrorism and the question of why newer pipelines are failing at a faster rate than older pipelines?

The thousands of jobs that were supposed to stimulate the economy of the county are not there. The pipeline is off because there is an abundance of natural gas and nowhere to use it. The water in Dimock, PA caught on fire due to the chemicals injected into Mother Earth via fracking. Research, study, long term planning. Please! Becky Benson

Comments: Even forgetting all other excellent reasons to stop this pipeline I take umbrage with the constant usage of 'job creation' as a promotional tool for pipeline building. The jobs are temporary, non-local workers who create a short term boom/bust cycle for lodging and food industries. The claim of long term jobs is a joke. The Keystone and Bakkan pipelines, each over a thousand miles long, will only create roughly 100 permanent jobs after taking thousands of acres of land and transporting the natural resources of this continent overseas for the profit of a couple of executives and do-nothing shareholders. The Atlantic Coast pipeline is the same. The ACP will transport U.S. resources to processing facilities that just 'happen' to sell most of their product overseas. That profit doesn't come back to the counties that have to suffer the pipeline. That profit goes to do-nothing shareholders and executives. Money from the private sale of U.S. natural resources doesn't come back to the communities affected by pipelines and processing. In a hundred or two-hundred years, these corporations will have raped this country of its' resources and we the people will have to buy energy from overseas at ten to a hundred times the price. At least a bunch of shareholders will walk away with some money. It is a pity our local communities suffer.

Comments: FERC must release a revised DEIS for the following reasons: Prove that boring through the Blue Ridge is a practicable option, by providing reliable and complete geophysical data. Disclose the extent of land disturbance and water quality damage the proposal would create. Include detailed, site-specific plans and pollution control measures for all alternatives for crossing the Blue Ridge. Include a site-specific investigation of landslide risks and mitigation plans, including but not limited to the additional infrastructure for the extensive access road system needed to build the Atlantic Coast Pipeline. The DEIS must provide documentation that Dominion has not yet provided, including information requested by the U.S. Forest Service to assess project-induced landslide hazards and risk to public safety, resources and infrastructure. Currently the DEIS does not show slope-stability analyses and other detailed engineering data from Dominion and the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and it must do this to be legitimate. Dominion has yet to finish field surveys, analysis and final measures related to slope hazards and recommends that they file those studies and identify mitigation that would be implemented DURING CONSTRUCTION and OPERATION of the projects. Dominion is not determining whether the pipeline is going to slide down the hill and blow up! This is unacceptable. A legitimate Atlantic Coast Pipeline's DEIS must include this information. These components are required by the National Environmental Policy Review Act. This report must be completed and made available on a schedule that allows informed agency and public review and comment prior to permitting and construction. In closing, it's important to note that the Atlantic Coast Pipeline would lock consumers into decades of relying on dirty fossil fuels by building this enormously expensive, fracked gas, infrastructure, while at the same time putting lives, drinking water supplies, private property, publicly owned natural resources, and the climate at an unacceptable risk.

Comments: I respectfully request tht FERC not simply rubber-stamp Dominion Transmission's dangerous Atlantic Coast Pipeline. Domioion is a for-profit private company and should not have the power to take land through eminent domain. This pipeline would devastate our pristine forests and valleys and is clearly unnecessary, as we already have an abundance of natural gas. This pipeline will destroy our neighbors' right to quiet enjoyment of their properties, and may very well destroy the drinking water for much of Virginia's population. The huge and powerful and wealthy Dominion Resources should not have control over people's property and their lives. This pipeline should not be allowed to proceed.

Comments: My concern is to not have the loss of an entire ecosystems be disrupted and losing species, habitat and the unique face of Virginia, Augusta County changed forever for an unneeded supply of fracked gas when more economical, cheaper sources can be developed producing a larger employment base to manage solar energy use. Endless resource of Solar investment would be a positive workforce with future growth of the economic base vs. finite, onetime injection of workforce, with perhaps non-residents who would create job supplies for a limited time of construction. My county has potential pipeline infractions for a route and I resist losing the plant and animal and human community that is presently growing and living here, as in Augusta County. Augusta County has even more rare natural resources on public and private land that will be forever lost due to the scale of construction of pipeline. Virginia from coast to mountains is not of geologically solid base, rather shifting, allowing habitation, but that is becoming more prone to recorded seismic shifts. Not for sustaining more volatile transport by pipelines. There are enough. Need? No. Sustainability needed? Yes. Eminent Domain taking? No Respect Public and Private Land Holdings? Yes

Comments: My home and family is within 250 Yards of the proposed route of the pipeline.....it is call the "incineration zone". When this 42" pipeline explodes, as a much smaller one just did in Louisiana, my family, my house, my friends, my life will be gone forever. Is it fair to ask me to make such a sacrifice for a pipeline that is not needed; a pipeline whose only purpose is to put more money in Dominions pocket; a pipeline whose only purpose is to provide natural gas to other countries that are willing to pay BIG BUCKS for it; a pipeline which will not provide the permanent jobs Dominion promises? God I hope my life is worth more than that. When this pipeline is installed and all Dominions lies and half truths are finally exposed, it will be too late. The damage will be done and I will forever live in fear for my life and my community.

The DEIS has significant flaws. Property owners are unable to protect all that we hold dear to fight against the power of Dominion aided by FERC. We and our historic 1797 home will be in the ACP blast zone although we have 1000 acres of property. Dominion does not care at all about what they destroy. Democracy has been replaced by an oligarchy of corporations, bankers, and wealthy elites who are the sole benefactors of this broken system. One day in the near future politicians who accept this legal but unethical bribery and ignore the interests of their constituents will be targeted and voted out of office. They will be replaced by those who refuse to participate in this hypocrisy. This will require people to move beyond the present duopoly of the corporate party with its liberal and conservative wings (the Democratic and Republican Parties) to create a party that truly works for the people.
